

While in most places you see the sizes mentioned in alphabets as S, M, L, etc., we believe it's better to mention sizes in numbers as we measure each and every products separately, this is because:

- A. Usually not all brands has the same measurement for the mentioned alphabetical sizes. This is the reason you find people say only certain brand sizes suit them. This may work when you buy stuff in-shop.
- B. It helps us to reduce the size based returns issue.

However, if you want, you can convert the numbered sizes into the alphabetical ones based on the below chart.

Chest Size Chart - Men/Women

In Numbers	In Letters
33, 34, 35	XS
36, 37	S
38, 39	M
40, 41	L
42, 43	XL
44, 45	XXL